FACTS & PROCEDURAL HISTORY

Applicant filed this application to register SOLEMATES on March 9, 2011. The Examiner issued an Office Action dated July 27, 2010 refusing registration on the ground of likelihood of confusion with prior registrations of marks for "SOLE MATES", "SOULMATE", and "SOULMATE.BECOME ONE.AGAIN", all registered to the same party, JB-DM Jewelry, LLC. The applicant's mark and the reference marks are all for Jewelry, in Class 14.

Prior to applicant's response, the reference registration of "SOLE MATES" was canceled for failure to file a declaration of use (an earlier registration No.2756625 of the mark "SOUL MATES" by the same party was also canceled in 2010 for failure to file a declaration of use). The applicant's response argued that applicant's mark SOLEMATES was clearly distinguishable, visually and conceptually from the mark SOULMATE, and altogether distinguishable from the composite mark "SOULMATE. BECOME ONE. AGAIN", because of the inclusion of additional wording in the latter that differentiated it in many ways from the applicant's mark. The applicant also argued that the term "soulmate" (in the singular or plural form, one word or two word form) was used generically throughout the jewelry trade to refer to a type of jewelry, and should not form a proper basis for a likelihood of confusion rejection with of applicant's mark, which differed in both appearance and meaning.

Following a further and "final" refusal, applicant simultaneously filed this appeal along with a request for reconsideration by the Examining Attorney. Along with that request for reconsideration, the applicant submitted evidence of extensive use on the Internet, by numerous parties, of the term "soulmates" in various forms, clearly referring to a type of jewelry intended for exchange between persons who considered themselves soulmates. The request for reconsideration was nevertheless denied on July 10, 2012, with the Examining Attorney expressing the view that the term "SOULMATE" was "very strong in the context of jewelry goods".

ISSUE PRESENTED

The issue presented is whether a registered mark, which clearly has become generic through widespread use in the trade, is a proper basis for a likelihood of confusion rejection of a mark which differs both visually and conceptually.

ARGUMENTS

There are two registrations forming the basis for the refusal appealed from. In the Examining Attorney's refusal to reconsider, a third registration (SOLE MATES, 2935370) is mentioned. However, this was clearly an oversight, as registration 2935370 has been canceled, and previously had been withdrawn by the Examining Attorney. The refusal to register thus is based exclusively on a likelihood of confusion with the prior registrations of "SOULMATE" and "SOULMATE.BECOME ONE.AGAIN." Both of the referenced registrations, and the applicant's application for registration of "SOLEMATES" are for jewelry, in Class 14.

Although SOULMATE and SOLEMATES have similarities in pronunciation, there are readily identifiable differences in appearance, and important and well recognized differences in meaning. Webster's Third New International Dictionary (unabridged, 1969) defines "soul mate" as follows: "one of two persons esp of opposite sex temperamentally suited to each other". The same dictionary has no definition for "solemates" (or "sole mates"). Likewise, the on-line Merriam Webster Dictionary has no definition of solemates or sole mates.

According to a current definition in Wikipedia, "A soulmate (or soul mate) is believed by some to be the person with whom one has a feeling of deep or natural affinity, similarity, love, sex, intimacy, sexuality, spirituality, or compatibility."

"Solemates" is more suggestive of footwear and footwear accessories (and, indeed, the business of the applicant is largely involved with the marketing of footwear accessories).

The primary definition of "sole" in Webster's dictionary, referred to above, relates to footwear and feet. A secondary definition is "having no spouse...having no companion" -- the absolute antithesis of "soulmate".

Given that "soulmate" has become a generic term for jewelry, as will be demonstrated below, the registration of SOULMATE should not be permitted to stand in the way of registration of "SOLEMATES", a mark that has an entirely different appearance and meaning.

“SOULMATE” IS A GENERIC TERM FOR JEWELRY

In the applicant's request for reconsideration of the Examining Attorneys final rejection, applicant supplemented its showing of the generic status of "soulmates" (singular, plural, and one word or two) by submitting 21 printouts of websites advertising "soulmates" as a distinct type of jewelry. In the applicant's view, the evidence is simply overwhelming that "soulmates" is used generically in the jewelry trade to refer to jewelry of a type that is appropriate for and is sold to people who are or have soulmates. It is believed that all 21 items (Evidence Exhibits 1 – 21) are relevant, because collectively they show beyond issue that "soulmate" is used in the trade as a generic term to designate a particular type of jewelry designed for and marketed to a particular class of customers. While Evidence Exhibits 1-4, 7, 11 and 13 are of greatest interest, applicant believes it would be useful for the Board to peruse the entire group of Evidence Exhibits, in order to derive the full flavor and impact of the extensive and widespread usage of "soulmates" as a generic term for jewelry.

Evidence Exhibit 1 is a collection of 175 items of jewelry under the heading of "soul mate jewelry". Many of the items carry the term "soulmates" in association with their individual illustrations in the website display. This website, by itself, is an impressive demonstration of the generic nature of the term "soulmate" as applied to jewelry.

Evidence Exhibit 2 is a collection offered by Amazon.com under the heading of "soulmate jewelry". 65 items are illustrated on this website. Unfortunately, they did not print out well for the exhibit. However, applicant's attorney, in examining the displayed website, counted 43 of the 65 items that made specific reference to soulmate in some form, in the description directly underlying the individual product illustration.

Evidence Exhibit 3 (Zazzle) illustrates 33 items of jewelry under the heading "Soul Mates Necklaces". Most of the 33 items include the term "Soul Mates" or "Soul Mate" embossed on the face of the pendant, clearly not as a trademark, but more as a statement of purpose.

Evidence Exhibit 4, under the heading "Soulmate Jewelry" shows five items of pendant jewelry. Above the listing, the advertisement recites "Tender and evocative, our Soulmate Pendants express the loving bond of romance, motherhood & family."

Evidence Exhibit 5 displays ear rings, illustrated under the heading "Soulmates" and with the description "Soulmates Jewelry - Adove Fine Jewelry".

Evidence Exhibit 6 (Mystical Dragon) displays a "Man and Woman Interlocking Soulmate Pendant" illustrated under the heading "Soul Mate Jewelry".

Evidence Exhibit 7, (pricedumper) under the heading "soulmates jewelry" has illustrations of various kinds and styles of jewelry. 24 of the illustrated items use the term "soulmate" or "soul mate" in connection with the description of the particular item of jewelry.

Evidence Exhibit 8 displays 16 items with an underlying description "PENGUIN Soulmates". Most are jewelry items with a soulmates context.

Evidence Exhibit 9 (Limoges Jewelry) displays four rings under the heading "Soul Mates".

Evidence Exhibit 10 (YourHolyLandStore.com) displays three items under the heading "Cosmic Match (Soul Mate) Pendant".

Evidence Exhibit 11 (Energy Muse) illustrates two different bracelets under the headings "Soulmates for Women" and "Soulmates for Men".

Evidence Exhibit 12 (Lightworker Supplies) illustrates a "Soulmates Pendant" with text relating to the search for a "soulmate".

Evidence Exhibit 13 (the Find) displays 520 products from 116 stores, all illustrated under the heading "soulmate ring". Because of the large number of pages, only representative sampling is included In Exhibit 13, which consists of two, two-page illustrations. In the printing of the webpages, the illustrations unfortunately were compressed widthwise and some of the printed references to "soulmates" in the descriptions associated with the images were cut off or obscured. By the count of applicant's attorney, in the first two-page sample, 12 of the 21 items displayed used the term "soulmate" in the description directly underlying the item itself. In the second two-page sample, 19 of 28 items use the term "soulmate" in the description underlying the item.

Evidence Exhibit 14 displays a "Petroglyph Soulmate Hawaiian" wedding ring.

Evidence Exhibit 15 illustrates various rings, under the heading "Soul Mate Sterling Silver Ring".

Evidence Exhibit 16 (Kathryn Cole Jewelry) illustrates a "Soulmates Necklace", Evidence Exhibit 17 is a presentation of "Soulmates Bridal Collection" under the heading "Emma Gil Soulmates Wedding Rings".

Evidence Exhibit 18 displays a "Soul Mates JewelPop", described as a specialty glass item for "your soul mate".

Evidence Exhibit 19 (Sundance) illustrates a "Soulmates Ring" of bonded gold and silver bands.

Evidence Exhibit 20, under the heading "Soul Mate Jewelry" displays a selection of rings and pendants, particularly for Valentines day.

Evidence Exhibit 21 displays a "Circle of Love Soulmates Necklace".

It is well settled that printouts of websites are of probative value, and are relevant in the determination of whether a disputed term is or is not generic. In re Country Music Association Inc., 100 USPQ2d 1824 (TTAB 2011); In re

Active Ankle Systems Inc., 83 USPQ2d 1532 (TTAB 2007); TBMP §1208.03.

"The myriad examples [of web sites] that the Trademark Examining Attorney has placed into the record clearly show that BOND-OST 'tell[s] you what the thing is.' In re Abcor Development Corp., 588 F.2d 811, 200 USPQ 215, 219 (CCPA 1978)"

In a recent, unpublished decision of the TTAB, it was indicated that use by competitors of a term is evidence of its being generic:

A competitor's use of a term is evidence of the genericness of that term. See e.g., Remington Products, Inc. v. North American Philips Corp., 892 F.2d 1576, 13USPQ2d 1444, 1446, 1449 (Fed. Cir. 1990) (use of "TravelCare" in the trade as category designation significant factor in finding term generic) and BellSouth Corp. v. DataNational Corp., 60 F.3d 1565, 35 USPQ2d 1554, 1558 (Fed. Cir. 1995). STK LLC v. Backrack Inc. (unpublished, 92049332, (TTAB, 2012)

At issue is the question, given that the term "soulmate" is generic for jewelry (which the applicant submits to be indisputable in view of the Evidence Exhibits 1 – 21), whether the registration of SOULMATE is a suitable basis for refusing registration of SOLEMATES, which differs in appearance and has meanings which are different from, and to a large extent in conflict with, the meaning of "soulmate". In Keebler Co. v. Murray Bakery Products, 9 USPQ2d 1736, 1737 (Fed. Cir. 1989), the Court, in deciding whether there was a likelihood of confusion between PECAN SANDIES and PECAN SHORTEES stated that the only similarity was "the presence of PECAN, a generic term incapable of creating a likelihood of confusion." In so far as the mark "soulmate" is generic, is it not incapable of creating a likelihood of confusion. Granted, the registration 3306078 is still in effect, but should it not be given only the narrowest possible legal effect? Applicant submits that the effect of the registration is now so limited by the generic usage of the underlying term that it is insufficient to create a likelihood of confusion with "SOLEMATES" a term with a different meaning, indeed a contrary meaning, as well as a different appearance. Applicant submits that registration number 3306078 of SOULMATE is an empty shell, supported by a term which is clearly generic, and should be accorded only the narrowest possible scope. Although the registration remains in effect, the website evidence shows that the public understands the term to mean a type of jewelry, and there is widespread awareness that the term "soulmate" is in no way an indication of source.

Evidence Exhibit 22 is included because it is a webpage of JB-DM Jewelry LLC, the owner of Registration 3306078 (SOULMATE) and No. 3502298 (SOULMATE.BECOME ONE.AGAIN). This webpage refers to the product of the registrant as being "the perfect symbol of a relationship between two people who are soul mates". The webpage is also significant in that it makes a specific point of emphasizing the "SOUL" component of its mark by presenting it in bold (i.e., "SOULMATE") in most instances. This further supports the applicant's differentiation of its own mark, SOLEMATES, on the basis of differences in both appearance and meaning.

The Examining Attorney has also refused registration of applicants mark on the separate basis of likelihood of confusion with a second registration of JB-DM Jewelry LLC, namely "SOULMATE.BECOME ONE.AGAIN" (Registration 3502298). In the applicant's view, the '298 registration has little if any relationship to the applicant's mark SOLEMATES. The '298 registered mark is a complete message to a soulmate. The message has to do with finding a person to become a soulmate with. There is no supportable basis for a likelihood of confusion refusal based upon this registration. Moreover, given the generic nature of the term "soulmate", the language of Keebler, 9 USPQ2d at 1737, is appropriate. There the Court of Appeals for the Federal Circuit said, "the only similarity [between PECAN SANDIES and PECAN SHORTEES] being the presence of PECAN, a generic term incapable of creating a likelihood of confusion." The same logic applies to the '298 registration.

CONCLUSION

For the foregoing reasons, Applicant requests that the Board reverse the Examining Attorney's refusal to register the applicant's mark SOLEMATES and issue an Order allowing Applicant's mark for publication and registration on the Principal Register.

Title: Soulmates
Artist: Adobe Fine Jewelry
Medium: Jewelry - Peru Rhodocrosite, Sterling Silver

Description: these gorgeous dangles are made from stunning gemmy peru rhodocrosite lozenges on sterling silver levers. rhodocrosite is similar to rose quartz in qualities but much more powerful and combines divine love, compassion, and acceptance with passion, soulmate and twin flame connections. it is a stone of all things feminine, prosperity and creativity. rhodocrosite is from fossilized limestone that was steam heated in vapor caves to a gorgeous gemmy guava pink. younger, poorer quality rhodocrosite bears the bands in pink and cream like a tree does from millions of years growth inside mother earths womb.

Soulmates

Soulmates Pendant

$23.99

The quest for love is imperative for most of us. However elusive it can be, we never give up looking for our "soulmate".

The myth of Cupid and Psyche illustrates the power of love and the true meaning of the term "Soulmates." Psyche's quest to win back Cupid's love dates back to the 2nd century AD. Psyche is such a beautiful princess, that the goddess Venus becomes jealous of her. She instructs her son Cupid to make Psyche fall in love with a hideous monster, so all attention would again be on Venus.

Instead, Cupid falls in love with Psyche himself. He becomes her unseen husband, visiting her only at night. Psyche is sworn not to look upon the face of her unseen husband lest she lose his trust and his love.

Out of fear, she broke her promise and Cupid left her. She appeals to the Goddess Venus and undertakes a series of cruel and difficult tasks in the hope of winning him back. Eventually, Cupid can no longer bear witness to her suffering or be apart from her and pleads their cause to the gods. Psyche becomes an immortal and the lovers are married in heaven.

Cupid is said to represent the heart and Psyche, the soul of a relationship. The Soulmate Pendant's embracing lovers symbolize that heart and soul and the ideal of finding your "Soulmate".

The Soulmates Pendant is double sided and made of Excelsior Pewter. Comes with a 34" cord, accent bead and booklet. 1 1/4" high.

WHAT OTHERS ARE SAYING

My husband Pat and I recently celebrated our 20th anniversary. We are both HUGE supporters of HRC and I wanted to give him something special. Since I am Jewish and he is Catholic, we never really had a 'Jewish' wedding. So, I bought these for us for our 20th. He loved it and immediately put it on (he's a plumber and wearing jewelry isn't always the smartest thing to do).. thank you for having these and making our 20th anniversary special. You will always have both of our support!!!!

In all the world, there is no heart for me like yours. In all the world, there is no love for you like mine.

~Maya Angelou

My Soulmates necklace is handmade with two circles in sterling silver. This is a perfect gift for your soulmate.

Each circle measures approximately 3/8" in width (together 11/16") and are hand fabricated in sterling silver. They are formed and soldered together and then hammered flat. An antique finish is given to them. The necklace is 18.5" in length. (Custom sizes are also available).

This necklace could be made with more or less circles also. Please write me for a quote.

This necklace ships priority mail in the US.

All my jewelry comes in a gift box (made of recycled material) and a pretty sheer ribbon ready for gift giving!

Thank you so much for shopping handmade and with kathryncolejewelry.com

Sterling silver is a white and highly reflective precious metal composed of 925 parts of pure silver and 75 parts alloy, usually copper. Copper provides the silver with its stiffness and wearing qualities. Pure silver is too soft to be used or worn everyday. Sterling silver is used in a wide variety of jewelry for a beautiful polished look.

Gold is a remarkable, precious metal, with an unparalleled combination of chemical and physical properties. The only yellow metal, its name comes from the Old English word for yellow, 'geolu'. As the only metal that forms no oxide film on its surface in air at normal temperatures means that it will never rust or tarnish.

Soul Mate Jewelry for Valentines Day or Any Other Time of Year

Looking for jewelry for your soul mate?

While Valentines Day jewelry is a common gift sparkling on every store counter and in every ad from January to mid-February, Soul Mate Jewelry is much harder to find.

What's the difference? Soul mate jewelry incorporates into its design that special spiritual connection that exists between two people who have shared many reincarnations together. It's that extra depth of understanding, compassion, and intimacy that places a soulmate relationship beyond the non-soul-mate couple.

I've done some searching and found Ka Gold Jewelry, a company that specializes in original designs inspired by Kabbalah and other forms of spirituality. After sifting through their extensive inventory, I've chosen the following five pieces that most powerfully evoke the sense of love so unique to soulmates. Any one of these makes the perfect gift for your special Valentine.

All pieces are available in either silver or gold.

Ring of Love

The Ring of Love is based on the Golden Rule, which dates back to or before the Roman Empire times: Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself. The designer believes that "...love indicates total balance that is a result of the cosmic unity, and a deep understanding that the meaning of creation is love....The perception of unity, that another person...is one with you, is the key to wholeness.

I Love Therefore I Am Ring

"Diligo Ergo Sum," which means, I love, therefore I am, is a reinvention of the famous Descartes saying, "I think, therefore I am." The search for love defines the human experience, and the artist has designed this ring as a declaration as well as a reminder of the importance of love.

Ahava Ring

"Ahava" is the Hebrew word for Love. The ring's design incorporates Kabbalistic meaning to further empower and remind the wearer that love contains a balance between the Creator and the created. The letter aleph which is the first letter of the word is also the first letter of the Hebrew alphabet and looks the same upside down. This is the duality and harmony of love within the universe.

I am My Beloveds Pendant

From the Song of Solomon, this simple declaration of love -- I am my beloved's and my beloved is mine -- has survived through the centuries. It remains a strong statement of the love between soul mates, which has also survived the centuries.

Ahava "Love" Pendant

The same design as the ring, above, the pendant represents love - between soul mates, between the Creator and the created, and between all living things. It evokes both creation and balance, two forces that, joined by love, fill the energy of the universe as well as our hearts.

THE SOULMATE® STORY

SOULMATE® Diamonds share a connection as unique as yours.

SOULMATE® is the story of a pair of diamonds with a unique relationship. Every pair of SOULMATE® diamonds is born from one natural rough diamond formed deep in the Earth, billions of years ago. Only a very rare rough diamond meets the standards established as acceptable for SOULMATE® diamonds. SOULMATE® diamonds share an eternal connection, and are the perfect symbol of a relationship between two people who are soul mates. When set into jewelry, SOULMATE® diamonds are a beautiful expression of the bond that exists between sisters, best friends, mothers and daughters, husbands and wives or to celebrate the joyous occasion of the birth of a child. SOULMATE® jewelry is destined to become your family's most cherished heirloom!

Authentic SOULMATE® Diamonds.

For your peace of mind, each pair of SOULMATE® diamonds comes with two certificates of authenticity from the cutter. The certificates expressly state that SOULMATE® diamonds are natural diamonds that were formed in the Earth and that this pair of diamonds has never been apart. On the reverse side of the Certificate of Authenticity, there is a unique numbered photographic record of your pair of SOULMATE® diamonds documenting their evolution from the original piece of diamond rough to the finished pair of polished diamonds, as they appear in your jewelry. The certificate number is engraved in the jewelry into which the diamonds are set. Your diamonds are authentic SOULMATE®, just like the two of you! Become one again through this unique and special gift.

SOULMATE® was developed and the diamonds are cut by JB Diamonds, a Diamond Trading Company Sightholder, one of the largest and most respected manufacturers and distributors of polished diamonds and diamond jewelry. JB Diamonds hereby guarantees that these diamonds are conflict free, based on personal knowledge and/or written guarantees provided by the supplier of these diamonds as protected by the Kimberly Process.
